REPORT OF THE EXAMINING COMMITTEE.
The Committee appointed to attend the last annual examination of the Elmwood Institute, report as follows:
In consequence of the unfinished state of the Chapel of the institute in which the examination was held, the exercises were confined to a very limited time; and but few classes were examined—enough, however, to exhibit fairly the methods and principles of instruction here practised, and the degrees of success which have attended their efforts.

The examination of a class in Mathematics proved to us that the teacher in this department has especially aimed to accustom her pupils to think and reason for themselves, and to reduce their acquisitions, at once, to practice. This she has done, in the present instance, by a patient and thorough drilling in the fundamental principles, and by teaching them to investigate the reason for each rule and operation. Most of the questions were searching and readily answered; and those which were not, served rather to prove to the committee that the examination was conducted in a fair and open manner, throughout the whole book.

The examination of the classes in the French language, left also on the minds of the committee a most favorable impression. Not satisfied with instructing their pupils simply to translate the language, and to repeat, parrot-like, the lessons of the book, Mr. Buteau has conducted them through all the intricacies of the philosophy of that language, and appears to have given thorough discipline in the elements of the grammar, both by study and practice; so that his classes have learned simultaneously to speak, to write or to translate. The examination related equally to all these objects; and very few, were the cases of accident or constructions which did not pass in review and appear to be well understood by the pupils. And in general, the examination in all these branches reflected much credit both upon the fidelity of the teachers and the diligence of the pupils.

The exercises in English Composition were, in the opinion of the committee, worthy of much commendation both in respect to the style and sentiment, and the correctness of the language—in short, for all those qualities which constitute good composition. In this important department, therefore, we judge that neither teacher nor pupils have been negligent of duty.

Of the numerous musical performances we cannot speak individually, but would remark in general that they fully sustained the reputation of the institution and its Professor. Several of the performances were of the most difficult character yet highly successful.

In conclusion, we believe that this new institution has thus far well served the interests of Education, and would cordially commend it to the liberal patronage of the public.

G. W. KENDALL, Esq., has returned from Paris, and is now in New York. He has nearly completed his great work on the late war in Mexico, upon which he has been engaged for the last two years. It is said the highest order of European talent has been employed upon the embellishment of this book, and the great care and expense that have been expended may be estimated from the fact that the labors of sixty men in coloring and preparing the plates can furnish only 120 copies in a month. The original sketches were taken by a German artist, Carl Noble, the most eminent in his sphere in Europe. He accompanied Mr. Kendall in Mexico, and drew his battle scenes on the very spot and at the very time of their occurrence.

THE CHOLERA WEST.—Pittsburg, Aug. 2.—In the 6th Ward, 10 fatal cases of cholera were reported on Wednesday, and 6 on Tuesday. The fatality is generally confined to high localities. The old and respectable residents, Mrs. Capt. Forsyth and James McHenry died last night from cholera.

There are 5 feet of water in the Channel—rising slowly.
Cincinnati, Aug. 2.—The Board of Health report for the past 48 hours, 78 intermittents—15 being cholera and 63 other diseases.

Miss M. B. SMITH, Assistant and Teacher in the Primary Department.

The prospects of this School were never more encouraging, nor its advantages greater than at present. The most careful and improved instruction will continue to be given on every branch of study, especially in the common English branches, and to those who desire to teach.
Dr. Maynard, who has had some experience as a lecturer, will lecture on the Natural Sciences, and lectures may also be expected on book-keeping and other important subjects.
Tuition will range from $3 to $1. Music on the Piano, including the use of the instrument, $5. Vocal Music, French, and Drawing, (each extra). Board for boarders, $12 per week. $1.50 to $1.75 per week. Rooms will be furnished those who may wish to provide their own board, on the most reasonable terms. Students will be furnished with text books used in school, by the Principal, at the lowest rates.
J. W. WARREN, Secretary.

Titcomb's Patent Bee Hive and Protector.
BY the use of this Hive, Bees are protected through their severe winters, on account of the even temperature of the air within it, and its peculiar arrangement for ventilation, that not a swarm has been lost from the many hives used within the three years past. It is a complete protector against the attacks of the robbering bee, bee-moths, &c. &c. and is a perfect barrier for repelling old brand bees with new ones. It is unequalled as a stock hive, swarms issuing from it from two to three weeks earlier than from any other hive. The surplus honey is readily obtained from it, in a pure state, without injury to the bees, in boxes of suitable size for family use or the market.
This Hive is constructed on philosophical and scientific principles, and needs only to be seen to insure its use by those who are acquainted with the instincts and natural habits of the honey bee.
S. B. WARD, Windsor, Vt. is agent for the sale of County, Town, and individual rights.
A Hive may be seen at Mr. Aaron Barnes in Rutland. 20-1

M. OSTHEIM,
116, Liberty St., New York,
IMPORTER AND WHOLESALE DEALER IN LIQUOR, WINES, LONDON AND SCOTCH ALE, FRENCH PICKLES & PRESERVES, &c., &c.
Came into the enclosure of the subscriber, on the thirtieth day of June, last, a five year old chestnut mare with a natural tail, a small stripe of white around one ear. The owner is requested to prove property, pay charges and take her away.

ABSCONDED.
One Dollar Reward.
This is to give notice that my husband has left my bed and board for a few weeks past, and any one who will give information when he has been during that time shall be rewarded one dollar. What need in the world is there of the wife of such a husband going to California in search of wealth?
